

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS<sup>16</sup>

First, I would like to thank my wife Valerie for all the words of encouragement and patience. She has a knack for thinking of scripture passages that fit the situation. Second, I will thank Francis Schaeffer, the late Evangelical Missionary. I read his works when I was a teenager, and was greatly impressed by the philosophical maxim  $A \neq \text{non-}A$ . In other words, the universe The Almighty created does not consist of contradictions. Things can be figured out, and what seems to be a contradiction in physical reality is only apparent. The History of the world, however it happened, happened only one way. Likewise, the chronology of the bible, given by the Creator, has an uniquely logical explanation. This principle of truth had much to do with my sticking to the task until the finish.

Credit is due to Martin Anstey<sup>17</sup>, author of The Romance of Bible Chronology for his painstaking research that served as the initial hypothesis of this chronology. In addition, I would like to recognize David L. Cooper, who wrote Messiah: His First Coming Scheduled. Also to Franz Delitzch for suggesting that Daniel 9 was speaking of sabbatical years. (Also, his Hebrew New Testament is the best<sup>18</sup>). Also Willis Judson Beecher's<sup>19</sup> work was of great encouragement, though I discovered it years after obtaining the same answer back to the judgeship of Eli.

The work of many scholars is to be credited with supplying key facts, or solving some chronological problem: Johnston Cheney, The Life of Christ in Stereo. The work of Jack Finegan, The Handbook of Biblical Chronology, and Harold Hoehner, Chronological Aspects of the Life of Christ; Graham Scroggie, Guide to the Gospels and E.W. Bullinger's Appendices in The Companion Bible. Credit is due to David Rohl (Pharaoh's And Kings); Steve Moshier (JPL computer code). Thanks to Walt Brown, author of In The Beginning.

Thanks to the Evangelical writer and cultural analyst from India: Vishal Mangalwadi for the suggestion to add "And Prophecy" to the title. I thank Peter and Tonya Sander (Messianic) for all of their moral support and steadfast friendship for many years. Thanks to Joanna Emert and Maya Megiddo (both Messianic) for their support and encouragement. Thanks to Todd Hickerson (Messianic). Thanks to Dr. Gierz, German Mathematics Professor at UC Riverside; the library and staff at UC Riverside; the libraries of Loma Linda University, University of Redlands, Fuller Seminary, and Lawrence University. Thanks to Pricilla Valverde (a Chilean Adventist) and Charlene Rosa (a Seventh Day Baptist). Thanks to Valerie's Parents, Marjorie and Leroy Bass (also SDB) and my Parents Rich and Sue Gregg (Evangelical Free)<sup>20</sup>.

Many people unknowingly helped with this work or influenced me in positive ways with their examples. There is the owner of a certain Jewish bookstore in Chicago who supplied me with a copy of Guggenheimer's Seder Olam. Samuele Bacchiocchi<sup>21</sup> discussed some of my work in the early days on the Passion. Desmond Ford brought the issue of the division of the kingdom from the tribe of Judah to my attention long ago. I appreciate Dr. David Nobel who put up with me at Summit Ministries when I was a young man, and the many creation scientists I have had the privilege to meet.

And now some acknowledgements for the 3rd Edition. To all the people who have patiently scanned old books onto the internet; this has been of great help. Also all those involved in sighting the new moon and writing programs to calculate it.

---

<sup>16</sup> I suggest most readers skip this and come back to it later if they wish.

<sup>17</sup> However, his mistakes concerning the "gap theory" and Persian Period are avoided.

<sup>18</sup> The New Testament in Hebrew and English (The Society for Distributing Hebrew Scriptures: Cambridge University Press, England).

<sup>19</sup> Beecher is the source of Walter C. Kaiser's Promise Theology.

<sup>20</sup> Author of Eating Better Cookbooks: www.suegregg.com.

<sup>21</sup> I still have his autographed hardcover From Sabbath to Sunday printed with the Vatican's Imprimatur. It was good of Bacchiocchi to buy the copyright, because the Vatican didn't realize that it exposed them.