The tops of the mountains are seen on X.1, marked by the diamond on the new moon day, Then 40 days later was XI.11, the first day of the week when Noah sent out a dove. A week later on XI.18 he sends the dove again. A week later on XI.25 he sends the dove out, and it does not return. The nearest other year after 2483 that matches the weekdays and the 150 days and the Jubilee cycle is 2385 BC, almost 100 years later. There are no matches of this sort before 2483 all the way back to 3000 BC. The Scriptural chronological data are not so open to interpretation as to allow a 500 year shift in the flood date, or even a 100 year shift. Consider the following:

⁴⁰⁰ Nebuchadnezzar took Jerusalem in 597 B.C. BM 21946 dates this to March 16, 597. The 70 years exile are counted on a fall epoch, so counting inclusively makes the 5th year of the exile Tishri 594-Tishri 593. Ezekiel's vision was in the 4th month, 5th day, which is during this 5th year of exile. Astronomical calculation via VAT 4956 fixes Nebuchadnezzar's 37th year to 568/567 B.C. Finegan §450 is incorrect by 30 days due to following an incorrect Babylonian insertion of an Addaru II in the spring of 593, which is incorrect even by Babylonian standards. 1 Addaru II is placed 4 days after the spring equinox (3-27) on 3-31. The prophet intercalated the year by the Scriptural method and not by the Babylonian method.
